ELIZABETH KELLY, Correspondent.

The Intermountain and Colorado Catholic is placed on sale at the James Clarke church goods house, 647 California street, Denver, Colo.

Holy Hour at Logan Avenue.

To further devotion to the Sacred Heart a "holy hour" is observed in Logan Avenue chapel every Thursday evening during the month of June from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock. The morning masses during this month are splendidly attended and the priests of the cathedral are to be congratulated upon the increase in this beautiful devotion which is manifested in their congregation.

Church Notes.

The feast of Corpus Christi was observed in all the Catholic churches with the usual solemnity.

An anniversary mass of requiem was said on Tuesday morning at Logan Avenue chapel for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Modesta Molt, who died one year ago.

Father Eugene Montell, S. J., of the college of the Sacred Heart, assisted in the Sunday services at Logan Avenue chapel, preaching at the 9 and 10 o'clock masses.

On Wednesday evening of this week, at the parochial residence, 1854 Grant avenue, Father H. L. McMenamin, pastor of the cathedral, united in marriage Miss Mary Connelly and Charles Utter.

The envelope collection at Logan Avenue chapel for the first Sunday in June amounted to about $300. This made the parish receipts for the period covered from Saturday to Monday last, exclusive of the work of the collectors, $1,500.

Miss Margaret O'Neill and Miss Lenore O'Neill of Birmingham, Ala., are at the Shirley hotel. They once spent a year in Denver and have many warm friends here. Miss Lenore goes to Chicago to meet her mother on June 21 for a visit to her.

Miss Margaret Curry has been removed to her home after several weeks at Mercy hospital.

Miss Mary Paul, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Paul of 1775 Clarkson street, is out again after a serious illness at St. Anthony's hospital.

Father Cornelius O'Farrell of Montrose was a Denver visitor last week.

Ninety young people were enrolled in the Blessed Virgin's scapular at Logan Avenue chapel Sunday afternoon.

Judging by the tickets to date, this year's picnic for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd will surpass any previous efforts in that direction. The spacious and attractive grounds of the White City have been rented for the occasion, and the members of the Good Shepherd Aid association are sparing no pains to make the affair thoroughly successful. The date set is Saturday, July 10.

Ellich's gardens is the beauty spot chosen by St. Vincent's Aid society for the annual picnic for the orphans of St. Vincent's home. The grounds are well maintained. Very favorable terms have been made by the management of the gardens, and there is every reason to predict that the affair will be an unequalled success. It will be held on Saturday, July 21.

The men, young and old, who comprise both branches of the Holy Name society of the cathedral parish are working diligently to dispose of tickets for their annual outing, which will take place at Dome Rock, in Platte canyon, on Monday, July 5.

Commencing with last Sunday and continuing for the summer months, the 11 o'clock mass at Logan Avenue chapel will be a low one.

Next Sunday will be communion day for the Young Women's sodality and for all the unmarried women of the parish.

The forty hours' devotion was observed last week at St. Leo's church, opening Thursday with solemn high mass and procession to the Blessed Sacrament, and closing Sunday morning, June 6. The concluding sermon was on "The Blessed Trinity in Theology and History," and was a masterpiece.

The sisters of St. Joseph's hospital entertained about 200 guests at a lawn party Wednesday evening, June 2, in honor of the graduating class in the training school. The lawn surrounding the hospital and the spacious verandas were brilliantly illuminated with many colored electric lights, while streamers of blue and green bunting, the colors of the training school, were stretched from tree to tree. An orchestra furnished music throughout the evening and dancing was indulged in. All the staff physicians and their families, as well as the friends of the sisters and nurses, were in attendance.

A delightful card party was given on Wednesday evening, June 2, by St. Anthony of Padua court, No. 47, Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, at the society's room, 209 Charles building.

The altar society of St. Francis de Sales parish entertained its friends incidentally increased its treasury by a social given at Da Proo hall Thursday evening, June 3.

Knights of Columbus.

The Knights of Columbus are giving much time to the preparation of the interesting program with which they will entertain their friends on Monday evening, June 14, the date of their annual minster show. The order numbers among its members some of the cleverest entertainers in the city, and under the able directorship of Joseph Newman the best results must inevitably obtain. The auditorium has been secured for the occasion, and the experience of past years proves that when the Knights of Columbus entertain no theatre in the city is large enough to accommodate their friends.

A class of forty children received First Holy Communion at St. Leo's church on Pentecost.

The parochial school attached to Mount Carmel church held commencement exercises Sunday afternoon, June 6, in the old church of San Rocco, which has lately been used for school purposes. This school, under the management of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart, is one of the youngest in the city and is patronized almost exclusively by Italians.

The next meeting of the Sacred Heart Aid society will be held on Thursday, June 17, at the home of Mrs. John Van Dinecker, 2318 Gaylord street, instead of with Mrs. George W. Prior, as previously announced. Mrs. Prior is still in California.

Class day exercises for Immaculate Conception school will be held in Logan Avenue chapel Monday evening, June 14, and graduating exercises on Wednesday evening, June 16. The following young women will receive diplomas: Miss Helen Miriam Burns, Miss Mary Evangeline Dillon and Miss Rosanna Marcella Tracy.

Class day exercises were held at St. Mary's academy on Thursday, June 3, when the following program was rendered: Class salutatory, Miss Irene Norriss; class history, Miss Anna S. Ryan; class prophecy, Mary Carney; oration, "Mantle of Wisdom," Miss Rose Solis; class will, Miss Amy Powell; valedictory, Miss Anna Ryan; class song, class of '09. These young women received graduating honors Wednesday afternoon, June 3.

Personal.

Peter C. Schaefer, Jr., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Schaefer, was baptized in Logan Avenue chapel on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Fay Curran, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Curran, who was operated on at St. Luke's hospital last week, is steadily improving.

William Mykins, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mykins of 1622 Downing avenue, has been taken to his home from St. Joseph's hospital, where his broken arm was treated.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McCallister at 147 Sherman avenue was the scene of a surprise party Thursday evening that will long be pleasantly remembered by those who had the good fortune to be among those present. The affair was in compliment to Mrs. McCallister, whose efficient services as organist of St. Francis de Sales church have placed that choir in the leading ranks of Catholic choirs. Mrs. McCallister leaves soon to make her home on the coast, and the men and women who have sung under her direction took this means of showing their appreciation of her merits. During the evening Dr. R. B. Harrington, on behalf of Rev. J. J. Connelly, pastor of St. Francis de Sales church, and the members of the choir presented Mrs. McCallister with a beautiful picture, which in her new home will be a constant reminder of the loving friends she is leaving in Denver.

Mrs. Margaret Duffy of 4225 Delaware street was painfully, though fortunately, not fatally burned last Thursday morning when her clothes were set on fire by a gas burner which she was preparing to light. She was taken to St. Anthony's hospital, where she is recovering. The fire was caused by a gas burner which she was preparing to light.

Mrs. Joseph A. Osner and niece, Miss Laura Werner, left Sunday evening for Ohio, where they will spend a month with Mrs. Osner's aged mother and father.

Mrs. J. J. Brown and Miss Helen Brown spent the week's end in Colorado Springs.

Miss Florence Flynn, who is teaching school at Perigo, Colo., spent Sunday at her home in Denver.

Miss Marie Foley has returned from Greeley, where she was a pupil of the state normal school.

Miss Emma Maroney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Maroney, entertained about thirty of her girl friends last Saturday at a house party at Hill Crest, the beautiful summer home of the Maroney family. A tally-cho took the happy young folks out, and the day was spent in boating and fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Cox of Colorado Springs were Denver visitors for a few days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Cox were married in Colorado Springs last Wednesday by Rev. Father Raber, and are now on their wedding trip, which will embrace many towns in the state.

Miss Neenan, residing with her sister, Mrs. Edward M. Hess, at 2256 Emerson street, was terribly burned last week by an explosion of gasoline with which she was cleaning a dress. In attempting to smother the flames, Mrs. Hess likewise suffered severe injuries.

Mrs. John J. Neany and children will leave soon for Chicago, where they will visit until the opening of school in the fall.

Mrs. T. J. O'Donnell left last week for Washington, D. C., to attend commencement exercises of the famous Visitation convent, of which her daughter, Miss Dorothy O'Donnell, is a pupil.

Mrs. T. Walter Bean of the cathedral parish, accompanied by her children, will leave this month for Seattle and other points in the northwest.

Joe Coughlin, who has completed a successful year with the "Just Out of College" company, is spending his vacation in Denver with his mother, Mrs. Bessie Coughlin. Mr. Coughlin received his education at Sacred Heart college, and has many friends here who are proud of his success.

Miss Lillian Walsh has returned to her home in El Paso, Tex., after a pleasant stay of two weeks with Miss Katherine Sullivan of 281 Sherman avenue.

Mrs. Frederick Hunt Wood entertained at cards Friday afternoon at her home, 1645 Race street.

Wedding Bells.

Miss Katherine Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Clark, became the bride of Percy Stauter last Thursday evening at a pretty wedding performed in Sacred Heart church by the pastor, Rev. Edward Barry, S. J. The bride was exquisitely gowned in the conventional white satin with tulle veils fastened to the head by a wreath of lilies of the valley; her shower bouquet was of bride's roses. Miss Anna Waldron, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant, and wore a beautiful gown of blue messaline. The groom was attended by his brother, Alvin Stauter. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride, which was artistically decorated for the occasion in pink and white carnations. An informal reception followed the supper. Mrs. Stauter graduated from Sacred Heart High school in the class of '08, and is pronounced one of the most accomplished young women in east and west circles. Mr. Stauter is a well known business man of this city, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stauter of 2461 West Forty-third avenue.

The wedding of Miss Florence Mildred Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kelly of 2022 Ogden street, and Edward Morris of Kansas City will be an event of Wednesday, June 23.

The engagement is announced of Miss Margaret Helen Keefe and Leo C. Hartford. The wedding will take place toward the end of June, and will be of great interest, as both young people belong to families which were among Denver's early settlers. Miss Keefe is a graduate of Sacred Heart High school, and a young woman of charming personality. She is the eldest of the seven accomplished daughters of John A. Keefe of 1501 York street. Mr. Hartford was born and raised in Denver, and received his education at Sacred Heart college. He is now associated in business with Frank Kelly.

Obituary.

The many friends of Mrs. Ira D. Cassidy were grieved beyond expression at the news of her sudden death, which occurred on Wednesday, June 3, at her home, 1425 Adams street. A convert to the Catholic faith, Mrs. Cassidy entered upon its duties with all the zeal and enthusiasm of the neophyte, and was untiring in the cause of charity. Gifted by nature with a magnetic personality, and possessing all the advantages which travel and study could add to her brilliant mind, she was fitted to adorn the highest circles of society, yet her days were spent in the service of others. No philanthropic work failed to receive her full support, and she was happiest when so engaged. Mrs. Cassidy was a member of the Woman's club, serving with distinction on the executive board, and also as chairman of the day nursery committee. She was the moving spirit of the Helping Hand society, and recently joined the Sacred Heart Aid society, whose good work made a strong appeal to her generous heart. Mrs. Cassidy had resided in Denver but five years, coming here from Albuquerque, N. M., where she and her husband spent several years. The latter was engaged in painting the pictures of Indian and Mexican life that have given him fame. The body, accompanied by Mr. Cassidy, was shipped to Brooklyn, N. Y., for interment. Besides her husband, Mrs. Cassidy is survived by her aged mother and one son.

Mrs. Catherine O'Brien died on Tuesday, June 1, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James O'Neill, 1540 Boulder street, after an illness of many months. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church Friday, Rev. J. P. Carrigan celebrating requiem mass. Burial was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

The body of Mrs. Margaret Waldron, who died last week at Sunlight sanitarium, was shipped Thursday afternoon to Eldred, Pa., for interment.

Vincent Marquette, who died last week at 2011 Larimer street, was laid to rest in Mount Olivet cemetery on Thursday afternoon.

The funeral of John Corcoran, who passed away last week at St. Luke's hospital, was held from his home, 1933 Holden place, Friday morning, June 4. Requiem mass was read at St. Elizabeth's church. Burial was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

The funeral of John H. Boyle, who died suddenly last week, was held Sunday afternoon, June 6, from the family home, 1834 East Thirtieth avenue. Rev. Father Schimpf celebrated requiem mass, and burial was in Mount Olivet cemetery. Mr. Boyle was born in New York fifty-five years ago. He came to Colorado in 1880 and engaged in brickmaking, which business he continued until the time of his death. He is survived by his mother, his widow and three daughters, Miss Margaret Boyle, Mrs. H. S. Warner and Mrs. R. R. Green.

The tragic death of Miss Anna Coyne has cast a gloom over the many who knew and admired the young woman for her sterling character and deep religious fervor. Ever since the death of Miss Coyne's father in March of this year she had been a victim of acute melancholia, and in this condition wandered off to Golden on Monday, May 31, and her dead body was found a few days later on a ranch near by. Miss Coyne had been a devout member of the cathedral parish for nine years, and was seen in her accustomed place at early mass the day before death lured her to forgetfulness. Her sister, Mrs. C. J. Clark of Stillwater, Okla., arrived and took possession of the body, accompanying it to her girlhood home in London, O., where in the little Catholic cemetery she will be laid to rest beside her father and mother.

Mrs. Della Newcomb passed away on Monday, June 7, at her home, 355 South Corona street, and was buried Wednesday afternoon with services at St. Francis de Sales church, the pastor, Rev. J. J. Donnelly, officiating. Mrs. Newcomb was the mother of Mrs. John McNamara, Mrs. Mary Hornish, Mrs. G. L. Bradbury, Mrs. J. L. Bradbury and Joseph Newcomb.

A Boston lawyer told this story on another lawyer named Ames, who was retained as counsel for a man who stepped in a hole in the street and broke his leg. Suit was brought against the city in the sum of $1,000, and Ames won the case. The city appealed to the supreme court, but here also the verdict was in favor of Ames' client.

After settling up the claim Ames handed his client a silver dollar.

"What is this for?" asked the man.

"That is what is left after taking out my fee, the cost of appeal and other expenses."

The man regarded the dollar a moment, then looked at Ames.

"What is the matter with this?" he asked. "Is it bad?"—Lippincott's.

"Maria, I'm going to have Dr. Squilips treat me for my heart trouble!"

"What do you know about Dr. Squilips, John?"

"All that I know about him is that Mr. Gotsum recommended him to me."

"Who is Mr. Gotsum?"

"Mr. Gotsum is one of the stockholders of the life insurance company that is carrying a $20,000 risk on my life!"—Chicago Tribune.

"I shouldn't have cared being called a sucker if it hadn't been that my wife was present."

"Well, I guess she knew it quite as well as you and I!"—Cleveland Leader.

Checkers—Years ago I had money to burn and I burnt it!

Neckers—How?

Checkers—On an old flame of mine!—Lippincott's.

Mrs. Subbubs—Yes, the other flowers are blooming in fine style, but the four-o'clocks didn't come up at all.

Mr. Subbubs—Maybe you forgot to wind 'em.—Cleveland Leader.

She was a new servant, to whom the tea-servant was an unknown requisite. One day her mistress drew her attention to it, remarking:

"Always put that on when you bring in the tea."

Mary thought it the funniest servant's cap she had ever seen, and used every haptn she could find to adjust it. They had company that afternoon, and when Mary sailed in with the tea-coy on her head they fairly shouted with laughter.

Constituent—Senator, I should like a straight answer to one question. Do you believe in taxing business?

Eminent Senator—To some extent, my dear sir, I do. For example, I inherit a tendency to rout from my ancestors—I am more than willing to see that inheritance cleared out of existence.—Chicago Tribune.

PUEBLO, COLO.

Impressive indeed was the funeral of Patrick Dunphy yesterday. The last of the city gathered at the McMahon & Collier chapel to pay their last respects to the memory of the pioneer builder and the man who had done so much for the upbuilding of Colorado. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Long before that hour a vast throng had gathered at the chapel. Chief among them was a body of nearly 200 Knights of Columbus under the marshaling of Deputy Grand Knight Henry A. Zapp. The body lay in state in the chapel. The floral offerings were banded around it and nearly hid the casket. There was a beautiful floral harp, four large crosses, pillows and bouquets, while a most beautiful floral offering in the shape of a three-leaf shamrock lay on the casket itself. A gold crucifix was mounted on the top panel of the casket, and in beautiful engraving the name plate of gold shone as follows:

PATRICK DUNPHY.
K. OF C. 537.

After the services at the chapel were over the active pall bearers carried the beautiful casket to the hearse. The pall bearers were: John Vall, John McDonald, Willis Cuth, John W. Finlay, T. P. Lyold and A. J. Langdon. Escorting the casket were the honorary pall bearers, as follows: W. G. Frazier, G. L. L. Ginn, A. C. Daniels, J. N. Carroll, N. Aaron, Sonnesborn and George Jackson, D. E. Burke, John Salmonson, P. Lane, Frank Hullahy, E. C. Woods and William Stanbeck. The remains were taken by the escort of honor to St. Patrick's church, where at 2:30 o'clock Rev. Father J. B. Schimpf celebrated solemn requiem mass for the dead. Rev. Father Schimpf was assisted by Father Quinn of Cleveland, Ill., and Father Kavanah of Chicago, Ill.

Beautiful indeed was the eulogy that Rev. Father Schimpf paid to the dead builder, and as the body was being tenderly carried from the church to the hearse, the full choir of St. Patrick's church sang with beautiful effect "Rest, Spirit, Rest."

In the first carriage that followed the funeral cortege to the place of interment were Samuel Nelson, M. J. Deligan, Thomas Kelly and Dr. J. A. Black, all lifetime and life long friends and business associates of the dead man. Mr. Nelson was the life partner of the dead contractor.

More than 500 attended the services. The church ushers who did so much to comfort the sorrowing friends were Alva Allen, Frank Morrissey, John McGovern, Edward McCabe, Edward F. O'Leary and T. J. Donnelly.

Carriages had been provided for the nurses who took care of Mr. Dunphy in his last illness, while to other carriages rode the sisters from St. Mary's hospital.

In a carriage were four young ladies who had been the stenographers of the dead builder and who for years had attended to his vast correspondence.

Tenderly the body was lowered into the sunken vault. No one could have been buried with more honor or homage. No casket could have been finer. No vault better. Everything that money could do was done for the last regard for Patrick Dunphy. But all this was forgotten by those who saw for the last time the remains of their friend being lowered to its last resting place, as to these he was lost forever, and tears coursed down the cheeks of all present. Nothing remains but the memory of a God fearing man, and that memory will always remain with those who honored him by calling themselves friends of the dead builder. He was a man among men and a Christian and one who truly loved his fellow man. Patrick Dunphy is gone, but his deeds still live.—Pueblo Chieftain, June 7.

GRAND JUNCTION, COLO.

The young ladies of St. Joseph's church are preparing to give another one of their popular dances. The occasion will be a shirt waist dance on June 16.

LANDER, WYO.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clark of Laramie will be the guests next week of Mr. and Mrs. Cronin. Mr. Clark is instructor of music in the state university.

Horner Merrell last Saturday received a dispatch from George Werner stating that Tom Sun had died a little after 5 o'clock that morning in St. Joseph's hospital, Denver. Mr. Sun, who was one of the pioneers in this section and played a prominent part in the early settlement of Wyoming, had been ailing for some time. The body will be brought to this city for burial.

ROCK SPRINGS, WYO.

Tom and Ed Murray are home from Denver to spend the school holidays with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Murray.

Rev. Fathers Cushman of Ogden, Guinan of Salt Lake and La Valle of Kemmerer were guests of Father Barrett last week.

EVANSTON, WYO.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pife of this city are sympathizing with them in the death of their little daughter, Gladys Laurine, who passed away at the Holy Cross hospital on Tuesday, June 1, of spinal meningitis.

The little one was a bright, lovable child but 2 years and 3 months old, and had been ailing since February. She was given the best of medical attention from the beginning, being some weeks ago taken to Ogden, where she sufficiently improved to be brought home again, but about two weeks ago there was another relapse, when the parents were advised to take the babe to the Holy Cross hospital at Salt Lake where, despite the best of care that could be given, she passed away on Tuesday, having been sinking gradually for several days. The physicians seemed unable to diagnose the case until a short time before death, when they pronounced the child's ailment meningitis. The remains were brought to Evanston on Wednesday and the funeral was conducted from the family home on lower Main street yesterday morning.

Father Kennedy of the Catholic church officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Pife have the sympathy of this community in the loss of their darling child.—Wyoming Press, June 5.

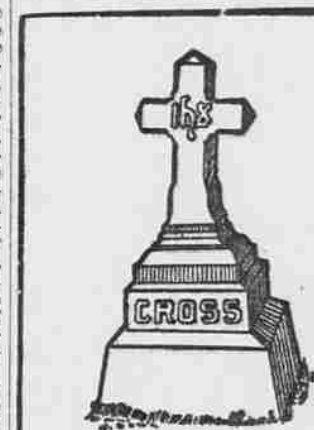

"He's very quiet, gentlemen," said the innkeeper, referring to a horse, which two young city gentlemen were to drive.

"but you must keep the rein off his tail." "Right," they said, "we will bear that in mind." When they returned the innkeeper inquired how they had got on. "Splendidly," was the reply. "We had one rather sharp shower, but we took it in turns to hold the umbrella over the horse's tail, so there was no real danger."—Tit-Bits.

The police captain was having his portrait done in oils by a painter who was not above doing his own publicity promoting. "More than once," practiced the modest painter, "I've been referred to as the coming sargent!" "Huh!" ejaculated the captain, in surprise, "in what precinct?"

The hard-looking customer had been arrested for stealing an umbrella. "What have you to say for yourself?" asked the policeman. "Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"I'm one o' the guilty ones, y'r honor, I reckon," answered the prisoner. "The umbrella had the name of J. Thompson on the handle, G. H. Brickley stamped on the inside o' the cover, an' I stole it from a man named Quimby."
